As a passionate believer that if you want a vibrant and creative community then the Arts must be central, i am keen to see some formal Government Policy on investment in Arts Infrastructure.

It seems to me major government initiatives in Education and Transport infrastructure have been the focus to date but to foster the creativity that is essential then it is critical for their to be support for Arts infrastructure.

I endorse the private/public sector partnership model but this does require a mutual committment from the Government to support required Arts infrastructure too.
